Frequently Asked Questions

How much of my day is taken by administration work in a large practice?

We have dedicated teams who exist to take as much administration work away from Salaried GP's as we can. We hear some great things from our clinicians about the difference these teams make to their working days.

Our dedicated centralised patient contact centre (call handlers) and reception teams are empowered to investigate and resolve as many patient queries as possible so our GP's don't have to.

Our dedicated centralised administration team an average length of service of over 11 years. These guys are very experienced and knowledgeable. They process referrals, code letters, summarise notes and deal with queries so you don't have to.

Our dedicated prescription administration team and clinical pharmacists provide a great service to our GP's, processing large amounts of prescriptions.

What have others said about their experience?

Priory Medical Group: First Years Programme

This initiative was developed in 2017 to support doctors new to the practice, in particular to assist those newly qualified doctors to transition from GP trainee to salaried GP. We feel this approach best demonstrates the importance we place on the experience we provide salaried GP's. (see www.priorymedical.com for more details)

Salaried GP Testimony;

"I have been a salaried GP for 3 years and came straight to Priory after finishing VTS. I found the frequent reviews in my first year extremely helpful as it meant I could quickly address elements of the job that I was finding difficult. This stopped those elements snowballing! It also meant that I got to know my supervisor well; this was a big support and continues to be now. I have benefitted hugely from the very open culture at PMG - our daily meetings are a very safe space to ask questions or raise issues (clinical or otherwise). The culture is very open and everyone is happy to ask or be asked for advice or support (again with clinical or non-clinical situations)."
